My family & friends.

What are some of your favorite things about downtown San Jose?

San Jose has so much potential, especially in the culinary sense. It's a perfect mix of urban and suburbia. You can see it reflected in its food where you get the inventiveness of a metropolitan dining scene, but also restaurants with the authenticity you find in common households.

Do you have a cooking tradition or a family dish?

Every other Christmas, our whole family gathers at my mom's house, and we pick a cuisine from a specific region of the world, and do an entire spread dedicated to that region.
